BORN IN 1803; TOO YOUNG TO WED

CORNELIUS BARTLETT, OF NEW
MAYSVILLE, INSISTS THAT BIRTH OCCURRED OVER CEN-TURY AGO, BUT IS DENIED
LICENSE TO WED.

WILL HAVE TO WAIT

Although Cornelius Bartlett, of New Maysville, insisted that he was born in 1803, when he applied for a marriage license, Tuesday afternoon to marry Miss Eva May Myers
of New Winchester, County Clerk Adams held that he was too young to enter into wedlock legally, and one rip was given the filled-out application for license before it found its way into a yawning basket.

A woman's hesitancy about signing a public document was all that kept two youthful hearts from beating as one. The irony of the matter is that she would have been perfectly safe in affixing her signature to an affidavit as to the girl
being of legal age, and her caution
gave Clerk Adams a chance to discover an error of his own which was about to result in the prospective groom getting his clearance papers on the sea of matrimony.

When Mrs. Denny, of North Jefferson street, aunt of Miss Myers, hesi-tated about signing the affidavit,
Mr. Adams told the would-be groom that as he was over 21 he could sign the affidavit and make things
all right. The young man informed him that he was not 21. Mr. Adams glanced at the application he had just filled out and saw the date
"May 29, 1887." He informed the young man that he was almost 22.

"No I'm not. I'm not 18 yet," insisted Bartlett.

"In what year were you born?"
inquired Mr. Adams.

"In 1803," was the reply.

"Then you are too young to get a marriage license," said the clerk,

who realized that the young man
was becoming so excited that there was excuse for him missing his age
a century.

Bartlett fished out a written permit from his father, authorizing the clerk to issue him a license, but a stern law says a boy under 18 cannot marry, notwithstanding parental permission. Clerk Adams told them to come back after the 29th of May and he would see that they got a license.

Mr. Adams had understood the young man to say he was born in 1887, and the license would have been issued without question, as Bartlett appeared to be fully 22 years old, had not Mrs. Denny hesi-tated about signing the affidavit
that the girl was over 18, which she was. It was evident from the downcast appearance of the young people as they left the clerk's office that they considered the 29th
of May centuries removed.

Young Bartlett is a son of John
A. Bartlett, a merchant of New Maysville. The young lady's father lives in Kansas and she is making her home with her grandmother,
Mrs. Blanton, near New Winchester.

ALONZO COOK FINED TWENTY DOLLARS AND COST

Mayor Miller Gives Verdict Against Druggist in Alleged Illegal Sale
of Liquor Case—Will Appeal to Circuit Court.

Mayor Miller, this morning fined Alonzo Cook, $20 and costs, for the alleged illegal sale of whiskey to Roscoe Skimmerhorn, a minor.
Gillen & Wilson, attorneys for Mr.
Cook filed a bond for an appeal to the Circuit Court Tuesday afternoon.

Mr. Cook sold Skimmerhorn a quart of whiskey on March 18.
Skimmerhorn gave Mr. Cook a signed application for the whiskey. Mr. Cook states that Skim-merhorn had told him that he was over 21 years of age and that he believed the lad to be fully that old. Skimmerhorn states that Cook did not ask him his age.

The case is a culmination of a charge of intoxication against Skimmerhorn. Several weeks ago,
Marshal Johns tried to arrest Skimmerhorn on the intoxication charge. The young man made good use of his feet and ran. Shortly after this the lad's father died and the charge of intoxication was dropped on the promise of Skim-merhorn that he would tell from whom he purchased the liquor.

Trust Companies and Small Estates

That it is most desirable to appoint Trust Companies as executors of large estates in which the transactions are numerous and complicated is universally recognized. It is even more important that small estates of moderate resources be administered by Trust Companies. With their broad experience, complete facilities and equipment they are able to protect absolutely the interests of all the beneficiaries.

So far as the records show there has never been a single case of loss of funds held in trust by a Trust Company as executor, trustee or guardian. This is remarkable when it is considered that the first Trust Company in this country was established more than one hundred years ago.

TAKES OVERDOSE OF LAUDNUM

MRS. VERNE TWIGG NEAR DEATH FOR SOME TIME
FROM DRUG, SAID TO HAVE BEEN TAKEN AS RELIEF
FOR TOOTHACHE.

SUICIDE RUMORS AFLOAT

Mrs. Verne Twigg had a narrow escape from death, about 8:30 o'clock Monday evening, when she took an over-dose of laudnum, supposedly for the toothache. The affair has an air of mystery, as the Twigg women refused to tell what she had taken until Tuesday morning. There were many reports afloat about town Tuesday morning that she had tried to commit suicide.
This, however, is said not to be true.

Mrs. Twigg had gone from her house, on the corner of Chestnut and Locust street, into the yard.
She had walked only a few feet,
when she fell. Mrs. Jessup, who lives in the same house with Mrs.
Twigg, ran to her. A crowd of neighbors were soon on the scene,
and they picked up her up and carried her into the house. Before she was taken into the house the woman was heard to say: "I took something, I guess I'm done for; I guess I'm going."

Dr. A. E. Ayler was called and after working for some time, succeeded in emptying the woman's stomach. The physician questioned the woman as to what she had taken, so that he might know what course to take, but she refused to tell. At first she said she had taken nothing. Later the woman admitted that she had taken something, but refuses to tell what.
The woman soon recovered and there is little doubt but that she will recover. Tuesday morning the woman told Dr. Ayler that she had taken a dose of laudnum in an effort to get relief from an aching tooth.

TAKES TURPENTINE WITH SUICIDAL INTENT

It was made public Tuesday that a Mrs. Gorham, who lives in the old Sinclair homestead in the south part of town, attempted suicide by drinking turpentine, several nights ago. The reason for the attempt to take her life is not known. The woman recovered from the effect of the turpentine.
It is said that she took only a small amount.

Obituary.

Little LaVon, the five-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. Z.
Bridges, closed her brief, but beautiful life here Tuesday, May 16th, at 1:30 o'clock, after an illness of four weeks of Plural Pneumonia.
LaVon was a bright child with a lovable disposition that endeared her to all who knew her. It seems sad to us indeed that this beautiful little rose just opening up its petals
to beautify and brighten this world should so suddenly be closed. But the consoling thought to us is that this tender flower will blossom into a full blossom rose and will shed its radiance and perfume to make brighter and sweeter her angel world.

When the school bell is ringing,
And the little ranks are formed,
As we march into the basement
Each a playmate by the arm,
And we form around the circle
With our teacher kind and dear,
There will be a sweet face missing.
Dear LaVon will not be here.
She has joined a circle fairer,
In a heavenly Paradise,
Where there are no tears or sorrow
In her home beyond the skies
Sad it is for little schoolmates,
Sad indeed for teacher dear;
But the one who most will miss her
Is the one who through years
Has protected, loved and cared for.
This one is her mother dear.
Father, too, will also miss her.
So will sister, brother dear,
Grandpa grandma who admired her
Also will in this sorrow share;
But the tie so quickly severed,
Which removed her from her own
Will again be reunited.
In that land—Our Eternal Home.

Dr. W. R. Hutchison was in Lafayette Sunday to visit his brother-in-law, Claude Farmer, who is in the St. Elizabeth's Hospital in that city, suffering from a broken thigh.
Mr. Farmer was injured when thrown from a train dock to the ground, a distance of more than 20 feet. He was helping unload a car load of coal when the accident occurred.

The body of Rev. H. D. Wright,
son-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. W. W.
Sellers of this town, whose death occurred at his home near Centerville, on Sunday, will arrive here tomorrow afternoon on the Vandalia train, due here at 4:11 o'- clock. The body will be taken direct to the Locust Street church,
where short services will be held.
Rev. Beck, assisted by Dr. S. B.
Town, will conduct the services.
Burial will be in Forest Hill cemetery. Rev. Wright is survived by a widow and two children. Mrs.
Wright formerly was Miss Sallie Sellers of this town. The pallbearers will be: Theodore Crawley,
E. H. Snider, Jacob Eltel, E. A.
Hamilton, Arthur Myers and R. A.
Confer. The Modern Woodmen
will have charge of the service.

LAST OFFICER IS CALLED BY DEATH

LIEUTENANT JAMES A. SHIR-LEY, LAST COMMISSIONED MAN OF COMPANY E, FIRST
INDIANA HEAVY ARTILLERY,
BURIED SUNDAY.

WELL KNOWN IN PUTNAM

The funeral services of Lieutenant James A. Shirley, whose death occurred at his home in Plainfield on Friday, and who was the last surviving officer of Company E,
First Indiana Heavy Artillery were held at the home Sunday afternoon.
Among the Greencastle men who attended the services were: John L. Hillis, John Kellar, C. Reeves,
L. Stoner, A. D. Hutchison and W.
P. Stoner.

Lieutenant Shirley was well known throughout Putnam county.
He was a second lieutenant in the company of heavy artillery organized in Putnam county. There were over two hundred in the company,
the majority of whom were from this vicinity. The company was in many of the large battles of the civil war and many Putnam county men shed their blood for their country while serving with it. The death of Lieutenant Shirley leaves the survivors of the company without a man who was a commissioned officer.

GOOD FORTUNE.

Compelled to Leave School on Account of Writer's Cramp He Gets a Good Pastorate at Waterloo.

NEW ROSS, May 20.—The many friends of Rev. and Mrs. G. F. Hubbard here will be glad to hear of the success which has lately come to him. Mr. Hubbard is a graduate of DePauw and was attending Gary Bible Institute at Evanston, Ill. He developed writer's cramp in his right arm and was unable to take notes in class. Mrs. Hubbard tried to assist him, but was unable to keep it up. He decided to leave college and that in itself seemed bad, but his good fortune came in being transferred to the North Indiana Conference and receiving a fine appointment. He has a good seven-room parsonage and a salary of $1,100. They are at Waterloo and like it very much there. Rev. Hubbard was pastor of the M. E. church here two years ago and he and Mrs. Hubbard have many warm friends here.

Millar of Hanover was the runner-up in the singles. He lost to Dale Saturday morning by scores of 6-2, 6-1, 6-4 and 6-3.

Hanover was also a strong contender for the doubles and Mann and Millar were in the race until Dale and Cornelius finally won out. The scores were 6-2, 6-1, 6-4 and 6-3.

1911 GRAD CLASS SMALL

FIFTEEN SENIORS DESIGNATED
TO WEAR THE COVETED
KEY BY FACULTY.

Last Saturday morning the annual Phi Beta Kappa election was held. Fifteen members of the graduating class, a somewhat smaller number than usual, were chosen.

This election is not based upon scholarship alone as was formerly the case, although this is the principle factor. According to the constitution, one fifth of the number in the graduating class may be elected. This, if strictly followed, would have meant that the society elect twenty-three new members, as there are one hundred and fifteen in the senior class this year. Since, however, the standard of scholarship was slightly lower than usual, it was the standard of scholarship was slightly lower than usual, it was decided to limit the number to fifteen. A list was prepared according to standing of all seniors who had maintained an average of two or above throughout their course. From this list were chosen who, in the eyes of the society, were most worthy of the honor.

The changed system of grading presented rather an embarrassing difficulty in making out the list. This year, since, however, this new system did not greatly affect the senior class, this obstacle was overcome without great trouble.

The following is a list of those who were elected, prepared alphabetically without regard to standing:

Bernice Allen.
Imo Ashley.
Adine Chilton.
Donald Clark.
Edna Davis.
Tessa Evans.
Ethel Frank.
Harvey Hartsock.
H. V. Heimberger.
Verna Kizer.
Charles O'Dell.
Shirley Rhea.
Geraldine Smith.
Blanche Stillson.
Mabelle Wright.

RAIN! RAIN!! RAIN!!! NO MAY DAY FESTIVAL

VISITORS AND STUDENTS KEENLY DISAPPOINTED BY UN-TIMELY ACTION OF
WEATHER MAN.

SATURDAY IS PROBABLE DATE

DePauw students, Greencastle citizens and a large crowd of visitors both were keenly disappointed Saturday when DePauw's annual May Day celebrations were stopped in their very beginning by rain. The crowd was brave and stayed upon the campus until the last minute while the participants even went through part of a drill in the rain but the weather man finally won out and drove them all to shelter. The steady down-pour that lasted for two or three hours also made it impossible for the open air play "Endymion" and the lantern march to be given at night.

Because of the large amount of work and money that had been expended in preparation for the occasion, the committee decided to hold the events Monday. But Monday came and so did another rain and now it is not decided when DePauw will have her May Day. Next Saturday is the most probable date although the committee says that it may possibly be held on Monday or Tuesday, which is Decoration day. Suffice it to know that if at all possible DePauw will have her May Day and that the date will be announced in sufficient time to make ample preparations for the same.

ROSS CALVIN SUBMITS NEW DePAUW SONG.

There has been much demand for a new "DePauw Song" for some time and numerous requests have been made for a suitable song. The following was written by Ross R. Calvin and will be submitted for approval:
DePauw, we sing thy spell,
The magic of thy name.
We strive with loyal words can tell
And hymn thy austere fame.
Thy distant rising towers
They reverend wals, thy shades,
Thy walks the scholar's quiet hours—
Ah! Light that never fades.
DePauw, about our hearts
Thine ancient ivies twine,
With slow Time's olden golden arts.
Our loves are ever thine.
Refrain:
All hail DePauw, DePauw!
For old DePauw, DePauw!
Let hand strike hand and eye respond.
And all resound, DePauw.

PROF. KLEINSMID HOLDS MINSTREL TRY-OUTS

The first try-outs for the minstrel came Wednesday evening. Prof. KleinSmid was well pleased with the material he has to work with. He says the interest is much better than ever before and that some of the new "stunts" suggested by members trying out are going to be the kind that will make good.

The date for this event is not far off and in order to make it a success the fellows are practicing every night now until it is over.

COLLEGE JOURNALISTS CLOSE CONVENTION WITH BANQUET

Met at Crawford Hotel Saturday Night for Annual Session—Addresses by Newspaper Men.

The annual convention of the Indiana Intercollegiate Press Association closed Saturday night with a banquet at the Crawford Hotel. About forty of the visiting college press club men attended the banquet.

Saturday morning the delegates to the convention held a business session and decided to hold the next convention at Earlham. The place of holding the convention is decided by the date of admission to the association. It was decided to pass by the Butler College Press Club, which should entertain the convention next year, as that club sent no delegates to the convention and showed no willingness to take the convention.

Officers were elected for the next year. They are H. J. Furness of Earlham, president; T. W. Blair of Hanover, vice-president; Horace Reed of Earlham, recording secretary; Lawrence Sloan of DePauw, corresponding secretary; W. E. Watson of Purdue, treasurer.

The application of the Moores Hill College Press Club for entrance to the organization was rejected as it was considered that the club was not yet strong enough.

MAKING WAR ON THE BAD EGGS

H. E. BARNARD, MEMBER OF
STATE FOOD AND DRUG COM-MISSION SENDS CIRCULARS TO ALL MERCHANTS OF THE STATE.

TO PROSECUTE OFFENDERS

H. E. Barnard, a member of the State Food and Drug Commission, is making war on bad eggs and has sent out hand bills to all the merchants of the state warning them against selling eggs which are not fresh. On the bills are printed sections of the law pertaining to the sale of eggs which are in any degree decomposed, putrid or rotten.

The following is the bill, in part, sent out by Mr. Barnard:

If it consists in any proportion of a filthy, decomposed, putrid or rotten animal * * * substance.

Section 4 makes it the duty of people and health officers to seize eggs found to be unwholesome and which are intended for sale or offered for sale.

Section 10 of the Act provides That * * * Any person, persons, firm or corporation violating any of the provisions of this act, shall upon conviction for the first offense, be punished by a fine of not less than $10.00 nor more than $20.00; for the second offense, by a fine of not less than $25.00 nor more than $100.00 and for the third and subsequent offenses, by a fine of $100.00 and imprisonment in the county jail for not less than Thirty nor more than Ninety days.

Inspectors of the Pure Food and Drug Department of the State Board of Health and all County, City and Town Health Officers are instructed to enforce these provisions of the law.

Egg producers, dealers and shippers will take notice that the sale of bad eggs or of stale or storage eggs as fresh eggs is in violation of the law and that prosecutions will be instituted wherever evidence of violations can be secured.

PASTOR PREACHES TO ODD FELLOWS.

A large number of members representing the Putnam and Greencastle lodges, I. O. O. F. in a body attended the Presbyterian church, Sunday night, and heard a sermon by the pastor upon "Fellowship in Service." Rev. Mr. Beeman took for his text the words in Matthew 23:8, "One is Your Master, Even Christ; and All Ye Are Brethren."

Following is a brief report of the sermon:

"Jesus Christ is the one 'Noble Grand and Supreme Exemplar of the universe. If Christ is our Master, we are brethren one of another. Fellowship in service is strengthened by the fact that Christ came as the brother and servant of men. His life was one of utter unselfishness. In Him 'Friendship, Love and Truth' are perfectly exemplified. Fellowship in service is first of all fellowship with Christ. And to have fellowship with Christ we must first acknowledge Him as Lord and our master."

"Brotherhood involves certain duties. First, good-will, willingness to help in time of trouble. Put yourself in the place of the troubled and like the good samaritan if you find a man who has 'fallen among thieves' help him up. The second great duty is forgiveness. A third is bearing one another's burdens, moral as well as physical. We should help each other overcome our besetting sins and do our duty. In union there is strength. The weak gain help from the strong and the strong lose nothing in the bargain. Where Christians realize their brotherhood with fellowmen Christians there you find it easier to live a Christian life. You help each other in the lodge, but no lodge can save the soul. Only Christ can do that, and the church is Christ's appointed means for reaching out to save men's souls. It points men to Christ and helps prepare us for the 'crown of life.' A fourth duty of brotherhood is that we are to be 'laborers together with God.' On which side, brother are you laboring—with God or the world? Come out on the Lord's side tonight."

A FABLE.

A sweet voiced canary and a garrulous cat bird met on an overhanging bough of a tree of one of the Greencastle streets the other day, and their twittering and chattering was interpreted as follows, by a certain party who happens to understand bird talk:

Said the canary, "Where are you going next Wednesday?"

The gruff reply was, "None of your business."

The canary was deeply hurt but gently apologized and said she meant no harm by the question and only inquired because she expected to enjoy herself at the Free Band Concert to be given on the public square at Greencastle on the Wednesday mentioned, and would like for the cat bird to accompany her, as she expected to pick up some pointers on music that day that would help her for days afterward to make the earth happier.

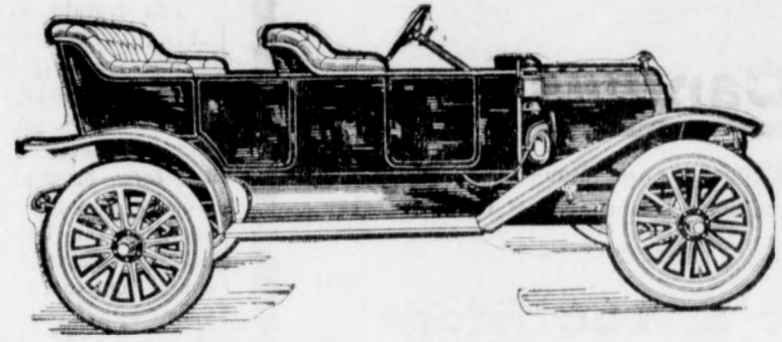

The cat bird gave vent to a loud squeak of derision and said that for her part she did not think she would waste her valuable time by going to any old band concert but intended to sit on her leafy bough and find fault with her neighbors, with the town and with any one who happened along. She said that band concerts would not make her less hungry at the end of the day and she could not see any thing worth while in them. The canary chirped something that sounded like "pessimist" and said that for her part she could afford to forget the cares of life for the sake of an afternoon and evening of pure pleasure and would enjoy the bounty provided for all on earth the more for having joined in making the day happy and the people of the city light-hearted and gay. She flew away to a tree near a sick man's window and sang joyous songs to him for hours while the beauty of the sun lasted and then went to her rest satisfied with herself and all the world. The cat bird swung on her bough and croaked dismally through the day of all the gloomy thoughts that came to her mind.

Moral.

Which will you be next Wednesday a canary or a cat bird? Twixt Optimist and Pessimist the difference is droll. The Optimist sees the doughnut the pessimist the hole.

Vora McLaughlin, of New Maysville, was granted a patent last August on an improved selfbinder which those who have examined it say will make quite a change in the harvesting of the world's wheat crop. For the last month Mr. McLaughlin has been working with Birch brothers at their machine shop in this city on a binder of the new type and next week he expects to make a public demonstration of it at New Ross. The main advantage of the new machine over the old style is that it does away with the elevated canvass and thus relieves the weight from the horses' necks. It also can be taken through a twelve foot gate which is a decided advantage.

Do Ghosts Haunt Swamps?

No, never. It's foolish to fear a fancied evil, when there are real and deadly perils to guard against in swamps and marshes, bayous and lowlands. These are the malarial germs that cause ague, chills and mauls and may induce deadly typhoid. But Electric Bitters destroys and casts out these vicious germs from the body. "Three bottles drove all the malaria from my system," wrote Wm. Fretwell, of Lucama, N. C., "and I've had fine health ever since." Use this safe, sure remedy only 50c at the Owl Drug store.

So far the wets have taken no steps toward creating sentiment in their favor in the coming local option election. The dries are very active and are doing some tall hustling. Among them in their fight are J. Blair, of Adams County, Ohio, and Seaborn Wright, of Georgia. Judge Blair was here about two years ago when the successful dry fight was made, and made a decidedly good impression. SMOKING WOMEN ARE DIVIDED INTO THREE CLASSES

Some Use Weed Because They Like It—Others to Be In Style.

NEW YORK—(Spl.)—It wasn't so very long ago that the only place hereabouts where women could be seen smoking in public were in the cabins of incoming liners. And those women devotees of weed were mostly foreigners.

Today half the women in one of the public dining rooms of a big New York hotel, lately opened, puff nonchalantly—or nervously as the case may be—at their cigarettes, without creating more than passing notice.

Cigarettes, especially made for "lady" smokers, are even listed on the menus.

As this change in the public attitude has taken place with unusual swiftness, those who model their conduct on more severe lines are wondering how long it will be before women smoke on the streets and at the theaters; the big stores have smoking rooms and the ears be assailed with such expressions as:—

"Clare dear won't you give me a light, I haven't a match in my chateau."

The granting to women of the right to smoke in the hotel in question practically amounts to another case of "class legislation."

There isn't a place in town where the poor girl or the social outcast can enjoy a "coffin nail" in public. Even the cheap dance halls, against the evils of which so many virtuous tirades are aimed, have private rooms set apart for smoking.

One or two of the favorite drinking resorts, except cafes, of actual and would-be rounders, permit their women—or rather girl—patrons to smoke in the early morning hours. No such restrictions, however, hedge the befurred and bejeweled women that gather at the Madison avenue nocturne.

A woman writer who sat among these feminine smokers divided them into three classes: Cosmopolitan women who smoked because they really wanted to, those who smoked out of bravado and those who smoked simply because they wanted to be "good fellows."

Of the second class, the writer says: "They held their cigarettes as though they were darning needles and cast furtive glances toward the door lest their not conventional broker husbands catch them unawares."

"One knew that those ladies consequently went to the washroom and lathered their fingers well with scented soap and held their breath when they kissed their children at home."

The "good fellows" are described as "women who can hold as much as any man and who call the gentlemen of their acquaintance 'pals.'"

These had always smoked wherever they were allowed and signified their joy over a public indorsement of their private idiosyncrasies by spawling their elbows on the tables and putting their smoke like old sea salts."
